ABOUT ME

I am currently a student studying at the Polytechnic University of the Philippines. I'm also a web developer and have created dynamic websites since I was a senior high school student. During my studies, I experimented with many website development techniques, such as using PHP, SQL, NoSQL, ReactJS, and others.

MY PROJECTS

SSS Application Records Management System 2025

A website created as a project in one of the courses I took in college. It aims to help the SSS employees manage their clients' application records. I was mainly the front-end developer in this project but also contributed some of the backend tasks, mainly the MySQL codes.

MyndSave Website 2024

This project was developed as a mandatory assignment for one of our college courses. This venture aims to help people manage their finances easily, as they can track their expenses and incomes using this website. I was the front-end developer in this project and I was also the one who integrated the backend coded by our developer.

Awareness Welfare Website 2023

A capstone project that was also the first dynamic website I created. This was created as way for STI students to voice out their concerns which can be categorized depending on the type of concern and its urgency to be addressed. I was the only developer of this website which also won an award during our SHS Expo.
